DEALERS! Tables are free! RESERVE NOW!

Jay Hickerson and Joseph Webb, Co-Chairman
This is a not-for-profit convention.

CONVENTION 1979: Update #5. Unfortunately Arnold Moss will not be able to come. Others coming not on flyer are Betty Wragge, Ted Mallie, Sybil Trent, Ian Martin, Ralph Bell. As of Sep 4th, 100 people are coming and 22 tables are reserved. There will be a limit to the number of dealer tables...I have had only 7 responses for the Allen Rockford Memorial Award. Please send your vote in by Oct. 1st. If groups send in votes, will you indicate the breakdown of the vote especially the number voting for each person. Details of the award were in the August issue. We want this to be your choice, not the choice of just our committee...Rooms are $28 for single and $32 for double. Make sure you mention Friends of Old-Time Radio when making reservations. Bring them to the ATTN of Mel Bronstein. If you want reservation cards, let me know...Details on the program during the day and what movies will be shown will be in the October issue. Movies are from 9-4:30; workshops from about 10 to 5; displays and dealers from 9-3; cocktails from 5-7; dinner from 7-11...Some special guests that couldn't come send their best regards: Mrs. Philip Lord, Don McNeill, Willard Waterman, Joyce Gordon and Bruce Grant, Bill Owens, Jack Pearl, Frank Nelson and Viola Vonn, Hal Peary, Parker Fennelly, William Kendall Clarke, Mel Blanc.

Don Richardson will bring all back issues of NRN to the convention to sell as well as duplicate nostalgia and old-time radio books and records which were in Allen's collection. Don wants to make refunds and will when money is available. Things are extremely tight for Don. If you want more information from Don, please send along a SASE. Unfortunately, Don has been getting some very nasty letters from people who want their money back.

There was a committee meeting on the 6th. Any further details or changes will be mentioned later in this issue.

ARTICLE: One of my readers remarked on some dealers who charge high prices for shows. The new collector should inquire several places before trading and buying shows. When he does deal with a new person, do it on a limited basis to check the quality, delivery speed, and integrity. There are many dealers whose shows are reasonably priced. I have a list but it is several years old. To bring it up to date I need your help. Please send me the names of any people or companies who sell shows that you recommend. I will then prepare a new list and make it available. If you give me the name of a company please include the owners name. Also send addresses with all your names.

LATE MAIL: SUSPENSE STORY, a new dramatic series from Studiohouse Radio, has been made available to radio stations nationwide. Let me know more details as you hear it...

PLEASE GET YOUR REGISTRATION MONEY in right away for the convention. We want this to be a big success but knowing how many are coming makes it harder...On the next page is the program schedule plus other pertinent information. See you in October.

Write if you get work and Hang by your thumbs

- DRACULA, by any other name, is terrifying. In Germany, he's called NOSFERATU, the undead. In Bengal, he is CHORDEWA, the bloodsucker who becomes a black cat. In Italy, he is STREGA, whose breath is a poisonous mist. In China, he is CHIANG SHIH, who feasts on the newly buried.
- DRACULA is a human vampire. The "vampire" was named by the Spanish explorer, Cortez, who first saw the deadly bloodsucking bats in Mexican caverns, and called them "vampir".
- DRACULA is actually Vlad Dracul, a Transylvanian count born in Wallachia in 1431. Known as Vlad the Impaler, he was a ferocious warrior who impaled his enemies on oiled, rounded stakes, then watched with pleasure as they died in agony.
- DRACULA, in the 15th century, had several mistresses who took erotic delight in his cruelty, even when it was directed at them. During the last three years of his life he became convinced that drinking the blood of young maidens would give him tremendous strength.
- DRACULA'S actual castle fell into smoldering ruins after Vlad's mysterious death in 1476. A search of the castle's dungeon produced a strange surprise: a coffin, covered by a rotted, purple shroud, containing a signet ring, the remains of a royal tunic, and fresh black earth.
- DRACULA'S bloodlust extends only to young women. He prefers those who are beautiful.
- DRACULA does not enter a home uninvited. Instead, he will hypnotically reach out to the most vulnerable member of the household, promising love and even immortality, in return for the desperately needed welcome.
- DRACULA'S victims, contrary to popular belief, do not always become vampires. They may, but only if he infuses his blood into their veins. This is a "gift" which he saves for his most beautiful and desirable victims, those he chooses to be his brides.
- DRACULA has many powers. He can summon the dead from their graves. He can control the elements, creating fog, lightning, thunder, sudden heat and cold. He sees clearly in the dark. He has demonic strength and can lift or tear apart objects which would defy any mortal man. He can transform himself into a bat, a wolf, a rodent, a trail of vapor or even moles of dust in the moonlight.
- DRACULA has his limitations. He must rest by day in the soil in which he was buried, rising refreshed to set out on his nightly vigil. He does not sleep precisely from sunrise to sunset, however, and can move about during the day, so long as he remains in darkness.
- DRACULA like all vampires, casts no reflection in glass. However, he will reflect in holy water, the only substance to show a vestigial remnant of his lost soul.
- DRACULA cannot tolerate a crucifix nor the pungent aroma of garlic. There is an established link between vampirism and devil worship; in fact, the name "Dracul" means both dragon and devil in the Croatian tongue, which explains why he dreads the Christian symbol.
- DRACULA can be destroyed only by four precise methods. By driving a stake through his heart, by severing his head from his body and placing crushed garlic in his mouth, by burning his body to ashes, by exposing him to the rays of the sun.
